Best Koshary ever

"الأكل الحلو مش بس في طعمه،
ده في ذكرياته اللي بيجمع الناس حوالين بعض".

Ingredients

For the Base

- 200 g rice
- 200 g brown lentils
- 250 g macaroni pasta
- 400 g chickpeas

For the Tomato Sauce

- 500 g tomato passata
- 3 garlic cloves
- 2 tbsp vinegar
- 1 tsp cumin
- Salt and pepper

For Crispy Onions

- 3 large onions
- Vegetable oil

Secrets

- Cook lentils separately
- Use onion oil in the sauce
- Fry onions until deeply golden

Main dish

60 min

4–6 servings

Vegetable

About Seif Elemam:

Graduate of Mansoura University's Faculty of Commerce (Accounting, English section). Now studying for my MA in European Business Management at TH Wildau, with a focus on Marketing and Content Creation. I want to build a career where I create content that connects brands with people. At Wildau I learn from German culture and from the many nations of our international student community.

Seif Elemam
Egypt

Once you prepare Koshary from scratch, you will understand why it is Egypt's most iconic comfort food. The contrast between soft grains, rich tomato sauce and crispy onions creates a perfect balance of textures and flavors.

1/ Wash lentils thoroughly and cook until tender but not mushy. Drain and set aside.

2/ Cook the rice separately until fluffy. Meanwhile, boil the macaroni according to package instructions.

3/ Slice onions thinly and fry them in vegetable oil until dark golden and crispy. Reserve both onions and flavored oil.

4/ Sauté garlic in a small amount of onion oil. Add tomato sauce, vinegar, cumin, salt and pepper. Simmer for 15–20 minutes.

5/ Warm the chickpeas and prepare all components for assembly.

6/ Layer rice, lentils, pasta and chickpeas in a serving bowl. Spoon tomato sauce generously over the top.

7/ Finish with crispy onions and serve immediately.